

LOCAL MATTERS.

BRIEF MENTION.

Mr. R. L. Moore, of this place, has been appointed a Notary Public by Governor Hampton.

An arrangement has been made for Judge Ross and Cooke to exchange circuits, so as to allow Judge Ross to hold the Court at Anderson and Judge Cooke at Charleston this month.

We are obliged to friend Humphill, of the Abbeville Advertiser, for advance proof slips of his account of the execution of the three Lowndesville murderers, who were hung on last Friday.

Little William Henry, youngest child of Mrs. William Clarke, Superintendent of the street department of the town of Anderson, died on last Saturday of a fever and violent illness. He was aged seventeen months.

The bridge over the railroad cut on McDuffie street has been completed, and is now ready for use. It will be a great convenience, and our people are grateful to the railroad authorities for having at last opened up this street once more.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Messrs. McMahan, Morgan & Davis, dealers in ready-made clothing and gentlemen's furnishing goods, Greenville, S. C. This house is reliable, and our friends visiting that city would do well to give them a call.

We are requested by Mr. Thos. F. Callahan, W. C. T. U. to announce that there will be a meeting of the Wake Forest Lodge of Good Templars at Home Place on Saturday the 12th inst., at 4 o'clock p. m. All members are requested to be present promptly at that time.

Chicken thieves continue to infest Anderson. They made a raid on one of the Intelligencer people on Friday night last, broke open the fowl-house, and carried off several chickens he owned, save one. He now advocates the "shot-gun" policy with considerable emphasis.

Mr. J. E. Peoples, the live, energetic store and hardware man, has bought the interest of his partner, and will hereafter run the business alone. He says this change will enable him to sell stoves, hardware, &c., so cheap that our citizens will be throwing time away going to other towns for their goods. Try him.

Senator Cochran is voting with the extreme radicals in the Senate to prevent any election for Chief Justice, because he is afraid that if there is an election Judge Willard will be promoted. This course of the Republican Senators is in keeping with their former career, and Mr. Cochran seems willing to identify himself with them.

The entertainment given in Masonic Hall on last Monday night by the ladies of the Episcopal Church was an elegant affair. Good singing, the excellent evening it was well attended, and was eminently successful. The ladies in charge deserve great credit for their energy, skill and taste which are displayed throughout the entire undertaking.

Col. James A. Hoyt, formerly of the Anderson Times, has become one of the proprietors of the Columbia Register, and on last Thursday assumed charge of the editorial department of that paper in a graceful and well-timed manner. We predict for the Register a prosperous and useful career under the direction of Col. Hoyt as its editor.

Mrs. W. W. Humphreys sent us last week a most beautifully arranged variety of strawberries and flowers. The berries were of the largest size we have ever seen. Some of them measured two and one-half inches around, and seven of them weighed a little over a quarter of a pound. We had no idea that this fruit could be grown in such remarkable perfection up here.

If any of our friends want their photographs or pictures of any kind taken, now is the time. Capt. J. A. Wren, an artist of great experience and rare ability, will remain in Anderson only a short time, and then will have to leave the city. He has secured one of his pictures will do well to call on him early. He has charge of Mr. J. P. Maxwell's gallery, at Mr. Dorsey's old place of business.

Rev. W. H. Strickland, the accomplished pastor of the Anderson Baptist Church, left on last Monday afternoon for New Orleans, whither he has gone to attend the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention, of which he is a delegate from the Convention of this State. He has promised to give us an account of the Convention and its sessions, which will no doubt interest our readers.

We are indebted to Mr. Silas Hall for some very fine strawberries, which, though not as large as we have seen, were of good size and of excellent variety. We are gratified to learn that the culture of this delicious fruit is extending in the country, for if our farmers will only give a little attention to their "strawberry beds," they can enjoy, at a trifling expense, one of the greatest luxuries of the spring season.

On last Friday night a narrow escape from injury was made by two gentlemen who were crossing the foot-bridge over the railroad cut on Main street. One of the planks over the cut had slipped to one side, and of course when it was stepped on it would fall. The gentleman who was on the bridge at the time, however, came near being precipitated from the bridge into the cut. The flooring of this bridge ought to be renewed, and if it is not done the plank that is on it now should be nailed down.

We are requested to remind our readers that the ladies of the Baptist Sewing Society will have a strawberry festival at the University on next Friday night, at which all of our citizens are invited to be present. There is no admission charge, but gentlemen and ladies are requested to carry their purses in order to secure a participation in the enjoyment of the sumptuous feast which will be prepared. The proceeds from the entertainment are to be devoted to the procurement of a paragon for the Baptist Church.

We regret to learn that Rev. S. B. Jones, of Endleton, is suffering from an affection of his eyes, which threatens him with serious consequences. His eyes are small, and he is now compelled to wear glasses. He is now compelled to wear glasses in order to make anything. The question with many of them is, whether to replace cotton or corn; and if we may be pardoned for intruding our advice upon farmers about this question, we would urge them to plant corn on all land that cotton has been destroyed upon. One row of corn and one of peas alternating will make, as a general rule, more planted of this season than cotton. The cotton seed will be as large if the seed is planted now as if it had been planted a month ago, but the yield will be immeasurably less. Another thing to be considered is the danger of the price of cotton going down much lower, while corn and peas will rise in price in consequence of the European war. This is no myth, but an actual reality, which the capitalists all over the country realize. It is not impossible that if our people will plant corn and peas where they have had cotton destroyed, they may not be heavy losers by the war.

At any rate, we know that our people are a busy and energetic people, and if labor can repair their losses, they will be speedily repaired.

Mr. John Rothwell, Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of Charleston, has been conducting a series of meetings, according to announcement, for the past week in Anderson. The exercises consisted of a morning prayer meeting in Temperance Hall, an open air meeting, with the weather will permit, upon the square at 8 p. m., and a consecutive meeting at the Presbyterian Church at 8 p. m. Mr. Rothwell is a Christian gentleman of earnest and winning manner, whose labors in our midst we hope have not been in vain. He proposes to remain during the entire week.

We were invited to hear of a very serious if not fatal accident which befell Mrs. Carrie, wife of Dr. Miller, a promiscuous and highly respectable citizen of Pickens County, living near Pendleton, on last Wednesday. Mrs. Miller had been in feeble health for some time, but was able to go about her room at the house, and on the occasion in question she was standing near the fireplace, when a fire of the family was in an adjoining room. She started and fell in such manner as to catch fire, and before the flames could be extinguished was dreadfully burned. At last accounts her physician had despaired of her recovery. We trust, however, that she may be relieved of her injuries and restored to health.

A ballroom inhabitant of this section of our globe was sitting quietly in his domicile last Saturday dark, when he heard a cowed pelling his house with rocks. Gathering his double-barrel shot gun he started for the scene of action, but the rocking room became so terrific that he decided to follow the illustrious example of the ex-chief magistrate of this commonwealth, and sought shelter from the impending destruction beneath his bed. The next morning he was surprised to hear of the ballroom, and then wished he had gone out to shoot those fellows who were rocking his house. As it has a double-barrel shot gun, for prudential reasons, we withhold his name for the present, and refer all enquirers upon the subject to either Mr. N. K. Sullivan, who is our informant, or to the Corner of Anderson County, who, we learn, is acquainted with the facts of the case.

RAILROAD MEETING.
The Town Council on last Monday held a meeting to consider the propriety of sending a delegation to a railroad convention, which convened in Augusta yesterday, convened upon the connection of the Southern Railroad with a direct railroad route to Cincinnati and the great West. After consultation, they decided to send delegates to represent the town of Anderson, and Messrs. J. S. Murray and W. W. Humphreys were chosen. We think the action of the Council in deciding to have Anderson represented at this meeting was wise, and are glad to announce that the gentlemen designated took their departure for Augusta on last Tuesday, where we have no doubt they will faithfully and ably represent the interests of this town and County.

HAMPTON HALL AT PENDLETON.
The ball given by the Pendleton Dancing Club in Hunter's Hall on last Friday evening in honor of Gov. Hampton, was a most brilliant and successful affair, and was largely attended from different portions of the up-country. The room was nicely fitted up, and was most elegantly and tastefully decorated by the hall's daughters of Pendleton. Upon entering the hall a handsome engraving of our Governor hung below the conqueror's motto—"Veni, vidi, vici"—in gilt letters, and beneath was "Hampton our Governor." In evergreen letters trimmed in roses of different hues. A magnificent cornucopia filled with rare and choice hot-house flowers hung upon the wall, emblematic of returning prosperity to our State, and in another place an evergreen anchor with the words "Anchored at Last," told that the ship of State had passed safely through the raging storm of Republicanism, and was now secure and safe in the port of peace and rest. Those present enjoyed themselves beyond expression, and the mazes of the dance beguiled the followers of Terpsichore until a late hour of the night, when they departed with most pleasant memories of the evening.

DISASTROUS HAIL STORM.
Anderson County of late years has been noted for severe and destructive hail storms, but on last Saturday the most extensive and disastrous one which has ever visited this section passed over the county to a point below Irwin's Mill in Abbeville, leaving great and irreparable injury to crops, gardens and houses. Of course it was not equally destructive at all points, but more than half of its route has been left a scene of desolation and ruin.

Starting at Wallhalla, the hail fell fast and thick, but was small and did little or no serious injury until it reached the neighborhood of Seneca City, where it gathered fury and fell to the depth of several inches upon the level ground. Here the fury of the storm seemed to travel down the river, destroying from one to two-thirds of the wheat and cotton crops, killing chickens, and in one instance breaking a pig's back, until it reached a point three or four miles below Maxwell's bridge, where it ceased.

At about seven o'clock the storm reached Pendleton, and was comparatively light, but gathered its wrath some two miles this side, and was destructive along and below the line of the railroad until it struck the Six and Twenty Creek, where it was very disastrous in many places, reports from the plantations of Messrs. J. B. Kelley, Watson and Wm. Burris having suffered most. After passing this point it was lighter until it reached the town of Anderson, about 8 p. m. At this place it was as large but not so thick as at other points, and beyond the breaking of between seven hundred and one thousand panes of glass in the village, did very little injury. From this point it seemed to go up Rocky River, and was terrific from the force of the road at Mr. R. J. Cooke's over to the Ball point, it was again light, until it came to Broadway Creek, from which point over to New's Creek it was probably more severe than at any other place. After passing this point, it became gradually lighter until it disappeared.

The area of the storm was, as far as heard from, about sixty miles in length, with an average breadth of from five to eight miles. It seemed to be worse along the line of water-courses and in hilly sections. Birds and houses were wrecked in various portions of the County, and great damage done to the fruit crop. Upon the plantation of Dr. Adger, near Pendleton, a horse which had been driven rapidly from the village dropped dead, whether from the effects of the hail or not is unknown. There were quantities of hellebore as large as guinea-eggs, and some as large as hen-eggs, measuring two inches in diameter.

The hail was followed by heavy, washing rains, which also did very considerable damage. Many of our citizens have lost heavily. Their crops of small grain and cotton have been literally ruined, and they are now compelled to replant in order to make anything. The question with many of them is, whether to replace cotton or corn; and if we may be pardoned for intruding our advice upon farmers about this question, we would urge them to plant corn on all land that cotton has been destroyed upon. One row of corn and one of peas alternating will make, as a general rule, more planted of this season than cotton. The cotton seed will be as large if the seed is planted now as if it had been planted a month ago, but the yield will be immeasurably less. Another thing to be considered is the danger of the price of cotton going down much lower, while corn and peas will rise in price in consequence of the European war. This is no myth, but an actual reality, which the capitalists all over the country realize. It is not impossible that if our people will plant corn and peas where they have had cotton destroyed, they may not be heavy losers by the war.

At any rate, we know that our people are a busy and energetic people, and if labor can repair their losses, they will be speedily repaired.

SINGING CONVENTION.
We are requested to announce that the Anderson County Singing Convention will hold a semi-annual meeting, on the 25th and 27th of May, with Belvidere Church, located in the Northeastern portion of this County. Teachers and leaders of sacred vocal music in and out of the County are respectfully invited to attend. Also Sunday School Superintendents and all others who favor improvement in music. We hope there will be a large attendance from all portions of the County, as these occasions are not only improving the character of vocal music throughout the County, but are also doing a great deal to encourage sociability between different sections of our County.

PROPOSED EXTENSION OF ANDERSON.
We notice among the many measures introduced in the present General Assembly is one to amend the charter of Anderson by extending the corporate limits of the town, so as to make it a mile in every direction from the Court House. This makes the town in the form of a circle, and takes in a number of colored voters. It will, in all probability, however, not affect our town elections, as we learn that most of them have been voting heretofore, believing that they lived in town. The form of the village will under the new charter, be a little inconvenient as to the location of its boundary, which will be a curve instead of a square. We learn that the measure is gotten up at the request of the present Town Council, and presume they had satisfactory reasons for their action. We hope they have sufficiently considered the result of the change to know that it will not affect the political status of the town. We have had enough of Republicanism in our town affairs, as well as in State matters.

DISCRIMINATION IN FREIGHTS.
Mr. Orr presented the Memorial of the Anderson Board of Trade in the House of Representatives on last Thursday, asking for legislation upon the subject of unjust discriminations by railroads, and it was referred to the Committee on Railroads, with instructions to report a bill to equalize freights. We have so repeatedly expressed our views on this subject that it is scarcely necessary for us to do so again. The present amount to pay for the low rates necessitated to points at which there is competition, has been practiced by the South Carolina Road to such a tyrannical extent that the Legislature owes it to the people of the whole State to put an end to it as speedily as possible. This road, controlling as it does the Greenville and Columbia and the Blue Ridge Railroads, has by its short-sighted course injured many portions of the State, and that too, as we believe, without receiving commensurate reward for itself. By making freights high to intermediate points and low to Greenville, they have driven large quantities of trade to that city and points along the Air Line Railroad. The greater portion of goods sold in Greenville and Spartanburg are carried over the Air Line, which is the direct and natural shipping route at those points to or from the North or West, and the South Carolina Road ought to have foreseen that it could not carry the freights of points situated to the west of the line of the road, and by building up a large business in these towns secure the transportation of an equally large amount of freights. But instead of this they have waged war on intermediate towns by placing an enormously high tariff upon all freights, thereby forcing the trade from these places to Greenville and Spartanburg where the Air Line supplies the greater part of their freights. The result is that Greenville and Spartanburg are being built up while Anderson, Abbeville, Union and such points are being injured.

Another point of view, worthy of consideration, is that trade is driven away from Charleston to Atlanta and the North by this contracted policy, for it is the smaller towns in the State which have been the patrons of our own "city by the sea," while the merchants of Greenville and Spartanburg generally buy further from home. Hence, when trade is driven from these smaller towns to points on the Air Line, the business of Charleston is of course injured to that extent. "We do not believe we make a mistake in saying that the conduct of the South Carolina Road has injured Charleston and many other points in South Carolina immensely. It is just one of those cases where legislative interference is needed, and we trust the time has arrived when Carolina has a General Assembly that is patriotic and firm enough to apply the remedy which has so long been needed to protect all sections of our State from further injury at the hands of an unfeeling and oppressive monopoly.

TO THE COLORED PEOPLE OF ANDERSON COUNTY.
Mr. Dorsey: Having been interrogated by many persons of Anderson County, through private communications and otherwise, who, as yet, are in doubt as to the true state of political affairs here at the Capital, and who seem to be incredulous as to who is the true Governor of South Carolina, I beg leave to state, through the medium of your column, to those of my friends who are yet in suspense, especially the colored people, that Gen. Hampton is now the true Governor of South Carolina, beyond any possible doubt; and I sincerely believe, judging from his line of policy since his inauguration up to the present time, that he will not only make a good Governor for the white people of this State, but also a good Governor for the colored people. There has no man—no previous Governor since reconstruction—taken such a noble and strong stand for the colored element of this State as Gov. Hampton. He has manifested a willingness to give the colored people every advantage possible in the pursuit of wealth, peace, happiness and prosperity. In order to give your minds ease, and to have you get rid of that restless political spirit engendered during the campaign, which exists in a great degree yet, and that you may have more confidence in Gov. Hampton's pure and forgiving sentiment toward those who oppose him as Governor, permit me to tell you incidentally that he has no relative to Governor Hampton. There is an old colored man who formerly lived on Gen. Hampton's premises, and, by the way, is now living there. This old man took strong political grounds against Gov. Hampton, and in his case more unwarranted than others. This political opposition on the part of the old man took place just after the General was nominated for Governor, and really continued until the political struggle was over, yet he was allowed to do business for the General. The General has no relatives of the kind, and yet he has not a single relative toward this man, who continues to live, I understand, in more favorable conditions than before. Now, who could suppose that a man who was so magnanimous toward such an individual as this old man would be instrumental in violating the rights of citizens, who were much less conspicuous in their opposition to him? No person can stand for good intentions and sincerity of Gov. Hampton, and at the same time be a hypocrite. He has a heart as large as the stump that he would know no man by his color. I find this much of his assertions to be true since I have been here. It has been the case of some of my colored friends that if Gen. Hampton is Governor, he would be instrumental in abridging certain rights which they enjoyed under republican rule; but I have this to say to my colored friends of Anderson that no such idea is contemplated by the General, and if Gov. Hampton continues as he has commenced, and I do not think he will deviate, if allowed to pursue his own course, my word for it, when his term of office shall have closed, you, with others, will not have anything to regret because of his having been Governor. On the contrary, I think the colored people will be so well pleased with him as Governor, that they will in future seek his services as Governor again. I sincerely believe that Hampton will protect your rights. Let all go to work now on your farms; show aside political contentions; get rid of politics; bury it all behind things in the past; think only of the bright future which awaits you in the distance. Plant corn, peas, potatoes and other staples, but few cotton. Last year lot and fortune on Hampton's ship, with the hope of landing at a safe and quiet haven. I will write you more extensively in my next. Believe me, you have nothing to lose under the Hampton government.

I remain your friend and well-wisher,
G. D. WILLIAMS.

LEBANON.
The Baptist Church at this place is in a healthy and flourishing condition, having a good Sabbath School, the average attendance upon which is about sixty-five. The grangers are to have a meeting on next Saturday at 8 o'clock p. m. A full meeting is desired, and a pleasant and instructive time is anticipated. The farmers of this vicinity are very industrious and economical. They endeavor to make their own corn, and with a good crop they will have very little to purchase. There is a debating society in this section which is the means of improving its members very much. The next question for discussion is which is of greater use—paper or powder? Messrs. P. H. Brown and others are to speak on the affirmative, and Messrs. H. Gray and others upon the negative. Mr. D. P. Brown is the President. We have a prosperous school in this section, and trust our youth are being trained for usefulness in society.

SANDY SPRINGS.
On Tuesday, the 1st inst., we had a white frost. Its damage was not of much consequence. Saturday evening, the 11th inst., about 6 o'clock a very dark and angry sea-breeze cloud made its appearance in the West, and in less time than an hour every plant and herb was leveled with the earth; even the trees, in certain localities, were entirely bereft of every spray of foliage as well as fruit by a hail storm. The hail fell to the depth of three or four inches, some lumps the size of guinea eggs and larger. In fairs where it drifted and washed by the water, it was almost a foot deep. The next morning dead birds could be found in every direction, killed by the hail. Even shingles were split and knocked from the roofs of the houses. The storm extended about eight or ten miles in width—from Seneca River to Lebanon Church—but the heaviest and most destructive portion passed over Mr. Adger's, the Factory, Sandy Springs, N. L. Reid's, Lawrence Baker's, and on. A hail storm was never known to pass through this neighborhood, even by the oldest citizens. The farmers in low spirits since their crops have been destroyed. They are thinking of preparing their lands and commencing again. We have a large and flourishing Sunday School at Sandy Springs. Mr. B. C. Blackman, a man of energy, and a zealous worker in Christ's Church is superintendent. We wish to see much success in so great and praiseworthy a work.

FORE.
The first of the month was marked by cool nights, and one or two light frosts. Miss Minnie Hyde, who is in charge of Townville Academy, instructs her pupils in embroidery, crocheting, &c. Prof. Jas. G. Donahue gave a delightful musical treat—both vocal and instrumental—at Mr. J. A. Gaines', Townville, last Sunday afternoon. Thusly we send a kind greeting to our absent friend, who has subscribed for the Intelligencer consistently to get the For news. There has been no news in these parts. The stringency of the times has had a very wholesome effect upon that class, and they have learned it's root hog or die. The building fever do not abate, and yet O. Farmer, one of our most substantial citizens is next on docket with a new residence. That part of the Governor's message relating to an appropriation for public schools falls like the oil of gladness upon the soul of the hungry pedagogue. Some thirty-five years ago, a vein of gold was discovered only about a mile distant from Townville, and was worked by Messrs. Simpson & Barnes for a considerable period, yielding a net profit per day of about $125 to the happy. The mine was abandoned while it was paying as just stated; hence we may conclude that there's gold in the old mine yet. A most destructive storm of wind, rain and hail swept over a tract of country lying just above Townville last Saturday evening, and accounts of the damage done are really distressing. In places where the hail was most furious, all crops are almost utterly destroyed, and the farmers will have to plant again. Fruit trees were stripped of their crops. One man relates that some of the hail stones were nearly as large as one's fist. The persons of the Intelligencer are anxious to produce a new paper, the For of journalistic labor. No fears are felt as to the subsequent success of the For, if the course of management of the dear old Intelligencer, but the feeling is closely akin to the rage produced by the loss of a warm friend or trusted watchman.

Superstition.
A panacea, or "cure-all" is one of the myths of the age of superstition. Dr. R. V. Fries does not recommend any one or even his whole list of standard remedies as adequate to cure every disease. For severe Inguinal Glands, bronchitis, throat, and chronic lung disease, he believes his Golden Medical Discovery is unsurpassed, but it will not cure you if your lungs are half rotted by consumption. The Discovery is not a mere medicine, but a powerful remedy, by reason of its medicinal properties, but possesses also the most valuable attribute of being a sovereign remedy in blood and skin affections. But while it will cure such diseases as leprosy, scabies, blotches, and eruptions, it will not cure you if you are not cured by the loss of a warm friend or trusted watchman.
